Washington, Feb. 23.—To Prince Heary's message of greeting sent from the Kronprinz off Nantucket the President replied:

White House, Feb. 23.—Prince Henry of Prussia, The Hohenzollern, New York city: Accept my heartlest greetings on your safe arrival. I thank you for your message. In the name of the American people I welcome you and I look forward to meeting you personally "THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

New York, Feb. 23.-Prince Henry of Prussia, representative of his brother, emperor of Germany, at the launching of the latter's American-built yacht, reached New York today and was cordially welcomed as a guest of the nation. The land batteries that guard the outer harbor sounded the first greeting in a ponderous salute of twenty-one guns, the rifles of a special naval squadron assembled in his honor echoed the sentiment, there were verbal greetings from the representa-tives of President Roosevelt, the army, the navy and the city of New York and a great crowd lined the way into the my to see and cheer the sailor prince

BIG SHIP APPEARS.

There was a curtain off the Hook early this morning and it was after sociock before the watchers caught e shadowy outlines of the cautiously approaching liner, Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, commander of the squadron and honorary aide to the prince, left the flag-ship Illinois at 9:40 o'clock in the naval tug Nina. With him were Capt, Converse, his chief of staff; Flag-Lieut, Frederick Chapin, Ensign Frank T Evans, aide, and Capt. Rebeur-Pasch witz, the naval attache at the Wash-ington embassy of the German government. They were all in full dress uni-

The Nina met the Kronprinz beyond Fort Wadsworth, and, sailing around on the starboard side of the liner, steamed up the bay. Prince Henry, atorm of an admiral the German navy, and surrounded by his naval and military staff in bril-llant uniform, stood on the bridge of the liner. As the naval tug drew nearer to the side of the steamship Prince Henry and Admiral Evans caught sight of each other and exchanged in-formal salutes. The distance from steamer to tug was too great for conersation, however,

FORT WADSWORTH GUNS. As the two vessels with a flotilla of tugs and official craft moved in past Fort Wadsworth, the first of the saules of 21 guns was fired. As the first un sounded, the prince advanced to be end of the bridge of the Kronprinz and stood at attention. e passed the big American flag float-ng over the fortification he rajsed his cap in salute, and the members of his suite did likewise. The flag at the jackstaff of the Kronprinz was dipped and the German naval band accompanying the prince played "The Star-Spangled

The guns of Forth Wadsworth were those across the narrows at Fort Hamilton boomed out their salute. When that ceremony their salute. When that ceremon, was over the Kronprinz was stopped and the Nina hauled around to her and the Nina hauled around to her side and Admiral Evans and his boarded her. The passengers were gathered on the main deck and there was a hearty cheer as the admiral came upon the gangway.

GREETED BY ADMIRAL EVANS. Admiral Evans was escorted forward and in the quarters of Capt. A. M. Richter, skipper of the Kronprinz, he and the prince met. The prince came forward and taking the hand of the naval officer shook it warmly. am very glad to see you, sir," the admiral. "Everybody in the United States is waiting to welcome you. It is my pleasure, sir, to for mally great you in their behalf."

PRINCE HENRY RESPONDS. I thank you, sir, and through you, the people of your country," replied the prince. "I am glad to be here and on this splendid day. The emperor directed me to convey his compliments o you, admiral, and I do so with very Admiral Evans expressed gratificathe thoughtfulness of the em-He presented the members of his staff, and the prince gave each his staff, and the prince gave each hearty handshake and a cordial word. The newspaper correspondents who are to accompany the prince in his tour through the country were also introduced by the admiral. The prince, in excellent spirits, smiled when he faced the newspaper writers, and after the formal part of the pre-sentation said he was quite sure that their relations their relations would be very happy.

New York, Feb. 23.-At the time the | ahead, and at 10:50 was abreast of the special squadron off Tompkinsville. The German standard was run to the foretop of the Kronprinz, and its appearance gave signal to the American fact to above 100 m. fleet to salute. The San Francisco Cincinnati, Olympia and Illinois lay i perfect alignment in the order nam and made an actiractive picture with their crews manning sides, turrets and tops. They raised the German naval standard and then opened blank fire. The prince stood at attention on the bridge, and back of him were Admiral Evans and his staff and the numerous suite of the German visitor. and made an acttractive picture with

ADMIRAL CONGRATULATES.

The prince and his staff were espe cially interested in the Illinois and Olympia, and offered warm congratu-lations to the American admiral on the splendid appearance of his squad-ron. The prince said that he was very anxious to visit the squadron. and that he would do this at the ear-

The first of the large crowds was met at the battery, and from there on up to Recreation pier, where the largest crowd of all had gathered, every pier to which admission was not denied was partly filled. The number of the west cases and the wellriver craft also increased, and the welcome was a noisy one. The crossing ferryboats sounded their whistles, and the ever-increasing steet of tugboats kept up their noise. The big ilners in port were dressed, and the German olors were displayed at several points along the harbor shores. The prince frequently went to the side and either saluted or waved his hand in acknowledgement. To the Americans present he expressed his appreciation of the warm welcome extended to him.

HOHENZOLLERN'S WELCOME.

The last greeting in the run up the river was from the imperial yacht Hohenzollern, which is to be the home of the prince while in New York. She bore a full dress of flags, and her white paint with its trimmings of gold shone in the brilliant sun. Her jackies were new uniforms and straw hats, and manned the sides, while the officers in full dress uniform were drawn up on the deck. The prince smiled at sight of her, and, again stepping to the end of the rail, saluted. The jackies of the Hohenzollern gave a lusty cheer, and the prince smiled and saluted again The Kranprinz was abreast of the pier at noon, and was quickly warped into her berth, but there was some delay in getting a gangway arranged.

PRINCE HENRY DISEMBARKS.

Prince Henry disembarked at 12:55 p at that moment walking down the decorated gangway from the Kron-prinz Wilhelm into the elaborately pecorated pier. He then passed through an ornamental gangway and arch to bottom of the gang plank by Admiral von Baudissin, commander of Hohenzollern, and his officers. while the band from the Kronprinz Wilhelm was playing the German national air. Taking the precedence due to his rank, Prince Henry walked up the plank, followed by the officers of the Hohenzollern.

CALLED ON PRINCE.

The first of his callers to arrive after he had boarded the Hohenzollern was Gen. Brooke, U. S. A., accompanied by Admiral Barker aide, Capt. West. aide, Capt. West, representing the United States navy, followed, and then came the German ambassador at Washington and his brilliantly-attired suite of military and naval attaches and secretaries, and the military attache of the German government at Mexico, Lieut. Bartels.

PRESIDENT'S REPRESENTATIVES. Following the German ambassado came the special representatives of the president of the United States, headed by Dr. Hill, first assistant scretary of state, and including Gen. Corbin. Col. Bingham and Commander Cowles, brother-in-law of the Preident.

DEWEY'S REPRESENTATIVE.

Capt. Nathan Sargent then called on the prince as a special representative of Admiral Dewey. The captain said that he had been sent by the admiral especially to express to the prince the admiral's regrets at not being able to greet him personally, and to pay his

The list of callrrs was ended with th mayor's party, which included himself and his private secretary. The German consul-general at New York and his suite formed a part of the German ambassador's party.

About an hour was spent by the prince in receiving his callers and in making an admiral's inspection of the troops and crew of the Hohenzollern. Then followed a lunch. The prince invited to this luncheon those of the Americans among his callers who represented the navy, and besides these there were at the board the members of the prince's suite and members of the German embassy at Washington.

On Prince Henry's right sat the high est representative of the emperor this country, ambassador von Ho ben, and on his left. Admiral Evans. Next to the ambassador on the prince's right sat Capt. Converse, of the Illo-nois, and the other Americans present at the luncheon were Lieut, Chapin and Ensign Evans, son of Admiral Evans.

REPAY OFFICIAL VISITS.

The luncheon, which was informal WARSHIP SALUTE.

After a brief halt the liner moved was finished about 3 o'clock, and then the prince announced to his guests that he would repay this afternoon all his official visits. He told Admiral Evans

BECOMING MOTHER nothing compares the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period.

STORY OF THE VOYAGE.

New York, Feb. 23.-The North At antic served to the big Cronprinz Wil helm five days of weather that tested Prince Henry's sea legs. But the prince showed his sailorly qualities and never missed a meal. Each afternoon and evening found him in his smoking room, and in spite of the wind, wave and spray he spent hours on the bridge The voyage was without special incident. Prince Henry was a most demo cratic passenger, and the big company claring him an amicable, charming and Lanssuming gentleman.

THOROUGHLY DEMOCRATIC.

rince took his constitutional around passengers. In fact, he was throughout the voyage thoroughly democratic An artist for an illustrated weekly had been sent by his paper to accompany the prince. He was passing where the brince sat in the smoking room or uesday night when his highness hail ed him, took his hand and invited him to sit at the table with the royal party where he chatted for nearly an hour,

WEATHER WAS BAD.

Capt. Richter, commander of the Kronprinz, had hoped to make a rec-ord trip, but the weather was against him. He did not leave the bridge, exire voyage. Prince Henry spent much of his time each day on the bridge When the captain explained his disappointment because he could not read New York early on Saturday the prince took occasion to compliment him on the masterful way in which he had handled his ship and the speed he had made under such adverse conditions On Tuesday the prince went on a tou of inspection of the ship with the cap tain and the ship's surgeon. He visited the steerage, and second-class passen gers and examined their quarters.

CHATS WITH AMERICANS. Friday night the prince left his own in the smokingroom early and joined that occupied by George A. Ar-mour and Allison Vincent Armour of Chicago, Robert Bonner and Archie Harman of New York and Spencer Eddy of the United States legation at Constantinople, Allison Armour had been introduced to the prince as a yachting man and this brought the whole party together on common ground. Prince Henry sat conversing with this party of Americans for two hours. He remarked that he had always desired to hear some genuine American plantation songs and hoped he would have the opportunity before he returned to Germany.

AUTOGRAPHS ON SALE. The prince put his autograph on ten of the concert programs to be auctioned off for the benefit of the sailors. The lowest priced one brought $35 and the highest 894. Six hundred and twenty-five dollars was raised from the an ornamental gangway and arch to the gang plank of the Hohenzollern, which had been decorated in the German colors and was covered half its length. MEETS NEWSPAPER MEN.

Saturday the prince sent word to the five American newspaper men on board that he would see them in the after-noon. Baron Seckendorff, the prince's chief of staff, made the presentation, and the prince shook hands heartly with each of them. Among other things he discussed with the newspaper representatives wireless telegraphy and its development and application in the fu-

PURPOSE OF THE VISIT.

New York, Feb. 22.-Prior to his departure from Germany it was officially announced that Prince Henry would not be interviewed, and today he ad-hered strictly to this determination. Whatever the prince has to say for publication will be given out by a member of his staff.

Capt. von Mueller, aide-de-camp to the German emperor, who is authorized to speak not only for Prince Henry, in a measure to voice th peror's own views, said today to an Associated Press representative, in ex-

VISIT EXPLAINED. "When the president, on the inquiry of the German emperor whether Miss Roosevelt would perform the cere-mony of christening his American-built yacht, had given his consent in a most graceful manner, his nyajesty resolved to show his regard for the president by having himself represented by a prince of his house on the occasion of the launching. In contemplating this ourtesy, the emperor remembered the deasant relations between Prince Henry and Admiral Dewey and Rear-Admiral Evans, arel also recalled that his brother, on his return from China, had expressed a strong wish to visit the United States. This desire, however, could not be gratified at that time. Moreover, the emperor was influenced by the fact that Prince Henry, when-ever he was abroad, had always won the admiration and esteem of those with whom he was brought in contact, and had always succeeded in bringing a tone of kindness based on mutual esteem in the international relations. This, I think, will indicate the feelings that actuated the emperor in the choice of his brother as his representative on this pleasant occasion. "The prince is very grateful that the nperor selected him for this mission. He is delighted to make the acquaint ance of the great American nation at last, and enjoy the honor of meeting the excellent man at the head of it. It had been only the stern command of duty which prevented him from visiting the New World After his return from east China." When Capt. von Mueller's attention was called to the various reports regarding the friction which it was al-leged had arisen between Prince Henry id Admiral Dewey at a dinner giver the former in Hongkong, he laugh-

"Oh, well, a good many versions of that incident, and all of them wrong, have been printed. I happened to be that time the personal aide-de-cami the prince. The truth of the matter this, and I speak authoritatively: "In the harbor of Hongkong the mmanders of the vessels at that time the port. On that occasion the ince drank to the health of the sov flags of which were represented by the guests. In the order of his toasts, the first one, next to that to the German emperor, was to Greet Britain and the second to Russia, while the United second to Russia, while the United States was the last. The reason Great Britain was named in the first place, was because the dinner happened in a harbor of British territory, the acting governor of which was one of the

was informed by the German consul, Herr von Loever, who is now in Val-paraiso, that the representative of the United States, namely, Admiral Dewey, was pained because the prince had not put the United States at the head of his toasts, contrary to the international usage which demands the order of the toasts on such occasions. This usage is that the toasts shall be given in the order of seniority in commission officers present. Dewey was, in fact. that respect, the senior among the guests. The prince did not hesitate to seek an open, frank talk on this question of ctiquette with his American comrade, whom he highly esteemed. When visiting the flagship Olympia he frankly told Dewey that he had con-vinced himself that he was wrong and that Dewey was right, and Dewey's re oly was this: Well, sir, I thank you for your apology. I may say that I liked you be fore this, but after what you have told me just now, I like you better, and this is saying a great deal.'

"It is easily to be seen that this settlement of a question of etiquette goes only to strengthen the friendly relations between them and that Prince Henry is keeping the words of his American friend in grateful remembrance." LEAVES FOR WASHINGTON.

New York, Feb. 24.-Prince Henry gave a dinner last night on board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern. His guests included the president's representatives. Later Prince Henry at ended a reception given in his hono y the Deutscher Verein at the club house of the organization. He was ex-corted through the streets from the dock where the Hohenzollern lies to the clubhouse by Squadron A of the national guard and attended by his suite, Rear-Admiral von Baudissin and his officers and other guests. All the party were in carriages, while at the head of the line rode a detachment of mounted police. In the prince's car-riage rode Rear-Admiral Evans and Asst. Secy, of State Hill.
From the clubhouse the prince was

Bold Attempt at Bank Robbery.

New York, Feb. 24.-What is regarded as a daring attempt to get at the vaults of the Varick bank, with the intention looting them, has just been made. The would-te robbers severely wound ed a nightwatchman, who was the single protector of the vaults.

Springing on himein the dark of the isement of the Wool Exchange build ing, at Beach street and West Broad-, they knocked him senseless by blow on the forenead that made ide gash in the skin. Trained for just uch an energency he cried out as the blow fell. His cry, the noise which resulted from his fail, or, perhaps, the belief that they had killed him, frightened the men oft and they escaped. The treasure room was perfectly guarded by electrical devices, and i the cracksmen had succeeded in en-tering, the police undoubtedly would have swooped down upon them.

Almost Buried Alive.

New York, Feb. 24.-Found frozen in snowdrift and apparently dead, after Friday's storm, Wm. Ferry, a farmer near Anthony, N. J., lay for 10 hours or the cooling board of an undertaker's shop, surrounded by coffins and the paraphernalia of death. But for the absence of the undertaker, he might ve been buried alive.

Ferry was found lying in the snow The body was cold, and the supposed corpse was taken to an undertaking establishment. Half a dozen neighbors gathered to watch over the body. The absence of the undertaker prevented further action. When he arrived the party gathered in another room. Upon their return to the cooling room they were horrified to find the supposed corpse missing, "Body snatchers" was their first thought. An alarm was sen out and a messenger hurried to Ferry's home. When he arrived Ferry was disposing of a hearty meal. He said he suddenly became conscious, and observing his surroundings, fled through a sidedoor and hurried home.

Greatly Impressed with America.

SPENCER EDDY'S VIEWS.

New York, Feb. 23.—Spencer Eddy, first secretary of the United States legation at Constantinople, who had charge of the negotiations for the release of Miss Ellen M. Stone and Mrs. Tellka, actived here today on the Kran. Tsilka, arrived here today on the Kron prinz Wilhelm. In an interview he said he brigands captured an American rather than any other missionary, be cuse they believed the Americans had the most money and would be likely to pay the ransom

"Did the brigands want the mone for themselves?" Mr. Eddy was asked "No, they did not; and that is where the American people do not understand this case. It is entirely a political mat-ter, and all the people in Mecedonia are in sympathy with the kidnapping, for they believe it is a step toward freeing Macedonia from Turkish rule, the same fessional brigands who wanted money, pure and simple, instead of the political ones, Miss Stone would have been re-leased long ago. No, they are rather friendly to them than otherwise. They desired to attract the attention of the world to their cause and incidentally to get some much-needed money.
